Brothers in Christ,

Greetings from bloody Mexico.

I don't want to sound dramatic but this is how men become when they reject God. The situation is not getting any better. If killings are in short supply then there are kidnappings.

This has become so commonplace that we have become numb to it and we keep on going, trusting our God.

Probably we don't realize how grateful we should be to all of you, for your faithful prayers to our God. Thanks soooo much, amen!

So far we have had 5 tent campaigns. In addition, I have been ministering at pastors' conferences and teaching at the Mennonite Bible school located in another part of Mexico. It is a blessing to work there.

Twelve days ago we started another tent campaign in the parking lot of the railway station in Cuauhtemoc. This is our 8th year in a row to do that. Here we are surrounded by hundreds (maybe a thousand) of "desperados".

Being here you have mixed emotions or feelings. In one way you feel really sad for the condition of these people, but in contrast you may also feel a sense of holy wrath, wondering how it could be possible that so many of these lost souls can drink or use drugs every single day. How can these men live such a selfish life while ignoring the pleas and needs of their mothers, wives and children for mercy.

Lately, most of my preaching has been in this direction. I hope to challenge them to responsibility and maturity through God's merciful forgiveness. Pray that the Holy Spirit will touch the understanding of these men.

It was a tremendous blessing to baptize our daughter, Sefora, recently. She is now very active in God's work. She also is enrolled in a correspondence Bible school.

Thank you so much for all you do for God's work and for us.

Until He comes,

Renato and Wendy
